FBI called on to investigate Trump 'crime'

TWO Democratic members of Congress have asked the FBI to open an "immediate criminal investigation" after Donald Trump was heard pleading with an election official to "find" him some more votes in Georgia. Representatives Ted Lieu and Kathleen Rice have written to FBI Director Christopher Wray, saying they "believe Donald Trump engaged in solicitation of, or conspiracy to commit, a number of election crimes".

In a recording obtained by American media, the outgoing U.S. President can be heard claiming there was "no way" he lost in the southern state.

During the hour-long call, Mr Trump asks for 11,780 votes – one more than he lost by in Georgia – to somehow be discovered.

Mr Lieu and Ms Rice cite a number of legal codes they claim he may have violated.

EU countries blocking Brits

BREXIT as well as the continuing pandemic have posed issues for Britons trying to enter EU countries.

Travellers heading for Spain, the Netherlands and Sweden have been held up at borders following the UK's departure from the single market.

Some passengers were stopped at Heathrow Airport as they tried to board an Iberia airline flight to Spain after being told they did not have the correct proof of residency.

Meanwhile, police in the Netherlands and Sweden confirmed that Britons were refused entry into the country.

RISHI'S £4.6 BILLION LIFELINE TO THE HIGH STREET

AROUND 600,000 retail, leisure and hospitality sites will be able to claim a one-off grant of up to £9,000, the Government has announced.

The payments will cost the Treasury £4.6 billion and are aimed to help support the high street as new lockdown measures announced on Monday take hold.

Chancellor Rishi Sunak also announced a further £594 million for local authorities and devolved administrations to support businesses not eligible for the grants.

The Scottish Government will receive £375m, the Welsh Government £227m and the Northern Ireland Executive £127m.

Mr Sunak said: "The new strain of the virus presents us all with a huge challenge and whilst the vaccine is being rolled out, we have needed to tighten restrictions further.

"Throughout the pandemic we've taken swift action to protect lives and livelihoods – and we're announcing a further cash injection to support businesses and jobs until the spring.

"This will help businesses to get through the months ahead and crucially it will help sustain jobs, so workers can be ready to return when they are able to reopen."

The payments will be based on the size of each store, pub, cafe or hotel tied into the business rates typically paid by each business.

The smallest sites will be able to claim up to £4,000 and medium-sized ones £6,000.

However, the Chancellor stopped short of extending the business rates holiday, which ends in April, and also rejected calls for a VAT cut and improvements to sick pay or support for working parents.

According to real estate specialists Altus Group, 401,690 non-essential shops, 64,537 pubs/restaurants, 20,703 personal care facilities and 7,051 gyms and leisure centres are now closed.

The new one-off grants come in addition to grants worth up to £3,000 for closed businesses and up to £2,100 per month for impacted businesses once they reopen.

DO NOT COME OUT: Sombre message from Michael Gove and PM (above)

Gove signals lockdown won't be lifted before MARCH

DISMAL Michael Gove has delivered a stark warning that lockdown will only start to be lifted gradually in March.

And that timeline depends on the Government meeting its highly ambitious targets for vaccination.

The Cabinet Office minister yesterday admitted there was no 'certainty' that the brutal squeeze imposed by Boris Johnson on England on Monday night will be eased at the end of February as hoped.

The PM set a goal of giving first doses of the vaccine to more than 13 million vulnerable

By SUZIE SHELTON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

people over the next seven weeks – with doubts already voiced over whether that is possible.

But Mr Gove cautioned that even in the best case scenario not 'all' of the curbs will go, as he braced the weary public for a long haul to combat the fast-spreading new variant of coronavirus.

In a round of interviews, Mr Gove said a review of the situation would happen in the February half-term.

"We hope we will be able to progressively lift restrictions after that, but what I can't do is predict – nobody can predict – with accuracy exactly what we will be able to relax and when," he told Sky News.

"What we do know is that the more effective our vaccination programme, the more people who are protected in that way, the easier it will be to lift these restrictions."

Sombre

The heavy caveats came after the PM made another extraordinary U-turn, by plunging the country into a March-style lockdown, saying the NHS risked being overrun within weeks if he failed to act. Just a day after he urged parents to send their children back to school, Mr Johnson declared in a sombre address from No.10 that primary and secondary schools will be shut from today, with only the vulnerable and offspring of key workers allowed to go in.

Nurseries can stay open. But university students are being told to stay at home and study remotely, while GCSE and A-level exams will not go ahead as planned.

Teenagers may not know for weeks how their exams will be replaced, with Ofsted expected to launch a consultation – although government sources said some 'contingency' plans had already been considered.

Champagne time for supermarkets

SUPERMARKET chain Morrisons has said it saw a shift in shoppers' behaviour in the run-up to Christmas as a result of COVID-19 restrictions.

The retailer said sales jumped over the key Christmas trading period as customers shopped early to secure their festive treats amid restrictions.

Traditional Christmas purchases also had a sales boost, it said.

Champagne sales jumped 64 per cent, while sales of whole salmon increased by around 40%.

December was the busiest month ever for UK supermarkets as tightening rules meant shoppers spent £11.7bn on groceries.

Ryanair's dropped 9.3m passengers

LESS than 1.9 million flyers boarded a Ryanair flight in December, as the impact of COVID-19 on airlines continued over the Christmas period.

Ryanair said that its passenger number dropped by 83 per cent last month, compared with the year before, in another major blow to the airline industry.

In December 2019, the airline carried 11.2 million travellers.

At the same time, Wizz Air announced the number of passengers it carried in December had dropped 80% to 665,722.

Airlines have faced a difficult 10 months, first having to ground many planes, then run at a reduced capacity.

Scam grant text messages surge

A WAVE of scam text messages are being received across the UK, potentially duping people into giving up their card details in order to claim a non-existent grant.

The scam has been quickly designed to take advantage of confusion following Monday's lockdown announcement.

But there are a number of signals in the texts, including grammar and spelling errors despite claiming to be sent from HM Revenue and Customs.

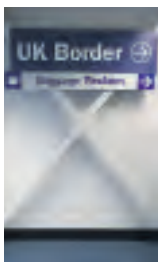

One message states: "From HMRC: The third lockdown has been announced, we have been issued a grant off £240 to help during this period, visit to claim..." and then links to a website which the criminals control.

TESTS PLAN FOR BORDER ARRIVALS

MINISTERS are considering introducing a requirement for international arrivals to have a negative COVID test before travelling to Britain to tackle surging cases.

The plans, which would exempt hauliers, were being discussed as Boris Johnson imposed the third national lockdown in England to prevent the NHS being overwhelmed.

The Prime Minister has faced calls to strengthen border protections to prevent the arrival of new cases, particularly of new and concerning strains.

But he made no mention of the border during his address to the nation on Monday evening.

A spokesman for the Department for Transport said: "Protecting public health in the UK is of the utmost importance and we are looking at what measures could be taken regarding international travel."

Currently arrivals into England from nations that are not exempt under the travel corridor programme have to isolate for 10 days.

But under the test and release scheme introduced in December, this can be shortened if they have a private test five days after their departure and it comes back negative.

Former Health Secretary Jeremy Hunt on Monday called for the closure of the borders.

FAKE OOHS!

70% of girls and one-third of MEN pretend to climax

By GRACE HOOPER news@sundaysport.co.uk

SEVEN out of ten women have faked an orgasm – and a third of men too.

A new survey found that 71% of women and 31% of men have pretended to climax with a partner.

And nearly six out ten women (58%) said they had faked orgasm in the last year while stuck at home with their partner during lockdown.

Half the women surveyed (54%) said they had faked it because the sex was taking too long and they didn't want to hurt their partner's feelings.

Other reasons women gave for pretending were the sex was boring (37%), not in the mood (36%), too tired (35%) and drunk too much alcohol (28%).

Sparing a partner's feelings was the main reason men fake it – chosen by 22% of those questioned, followed by having too much alcohol (20%).

One in 10 men said they had faked during a one-night stand after realising they had made a mistake.

Cheating

The results came from a new poll of 2,000 people by IllicitEncounters.com, the UK's leading dating website for married people.

It found that women were eight times more likely to fake an orgasm with their husband or long-term partner than with a new lover or someone with whom they were cheating.

Men were three times more likely to pretend with their wife or long-term partner than with someone they had just started dating or having an affair with.

IllicitEncounters.com sex and relationship expert Jessica Leoni said: "There is no doubt that faking it is on the rise because so many couples have been stuck at

COPS PULL A BLOW-UP DOLL!

SHOCKED cops found an inflatable woman in the boot of a car which fled the long arm of the law.

A spokesman for Doncaster police, in South Yorkshire, said: "This vehicle made off from officers in the Askern area and was recovered in Barnby Dun a short while later after a brush with a bus."

"The occupants ran away but, unfortunately for the driver, police cars have windows and officers have eyes. They have agreed to come in for a chat in the New Year."

"We are interested in the contents of the boot, although it isn't a criminal matter."

Nicholas had brainy trick to show his dick

NERVOUS Nicholas Hoult had to 'play a trick' on his brain to shoot a nude scene for The Great.

The 31-year-old actor (above) admitted he was daunted by having to walk the length of a long palace hallway "pretty much buck naked" for a scene in his new TV show.

But he worked hard to convince himself he was just as confident as his character, Emperor Peter III of Russia.

He said: "I remember reading the script and saying, 'Aaaaargh, I'm not sure about this one'."

"You have to switch off that part of your brain that's saying, 'I don't want to walk down a corridor naked'."

"You have to go: 'All right. I'm Peter. And I feel so confident, and I'm so happy and enlightened, that I'm going to walk down this corridor naked'."

"It's an interesting trick to play on your brain."

Plane crash kills 3 flyers and a cat

THREE people and a cat were killed when a plane crashed into a home.

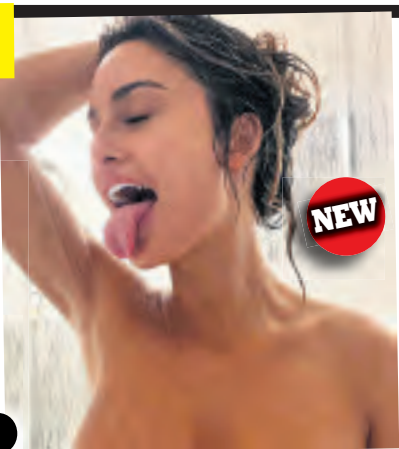

The pilot and two others in the small plane were believed to be the victims, along with the feline occupant of the home in Lyon Township, near Detroit.

The family inside the home escaped, but the impact set the two-storey residence ablaze, leaving it a charred mess.

The crash is under investigation.

BABE SETS UP SECOND ACCOUNT TO THWART THE CENSORS

JULIA'S GOT A LOVELY PAIR... OF INSTAGRAMS!

FAMED flasher Julia Rose has set up a SECOND Instagram account in a bid to bamboozle prudish censors at the social media giant.

The 25-year-old beauty – who shot to fame when she flashed her perfect busters at the US baseball World Series – is renowned for pushing the stuffy site's "no boobs" rule to the limit.

But after numerous reports and "flags" from Instagram due to her juicy posts from her original account, Julia has now set up a backup account.

Julia – founder of the X-rated magazine SHAGMAG, which she regularly plugs online – posted on Twitter that her new account goes under the name 'notjuliarose'.

And she's still posting those famous posts on Instagram for everyone to see.

Julia has already uploaded her first posts to the new account.

A pal said: "Julia knows her posts are right on the boundary of what Instagram will allow and she always runs the risk of her account being shut down by the censors."

"The second account is a way to mitigate this. Have you seen her pictures? Phwoaar!"

And here's some of her old ones!

Telly host 'rude' to idiots flouting social distancing

GRAND Designs host Kevin McCloud said he has been bollocking people in the street if they get too close to him during the coronavirus pandemic.

The 61-year-old TV presenter (above) said he is in a vulnerable category while busy working on the new series of the Channel 4 property programme.

During production, McCloud said he has not been shy in letting passers-by know if they are not social distancing near him.

He said: "It's a big thing actually, because we've been filming since June and we've developed a protocol for all the various places, whether we're filming in a building or outside."

"We have Covid compliance officers with us at all times, checking out here, making sure we are all being good."

"Also, I've got quite good at being rude. So if somebody approaches, I say, 'excuse me, back off! What do you think you're doing? Be Covid compliant.'"

Flasher tried to hide from cops in long grass

A SERIAL flasher caught crawling through long grass to hide from cops has been banned from parks, beaches and woodland.

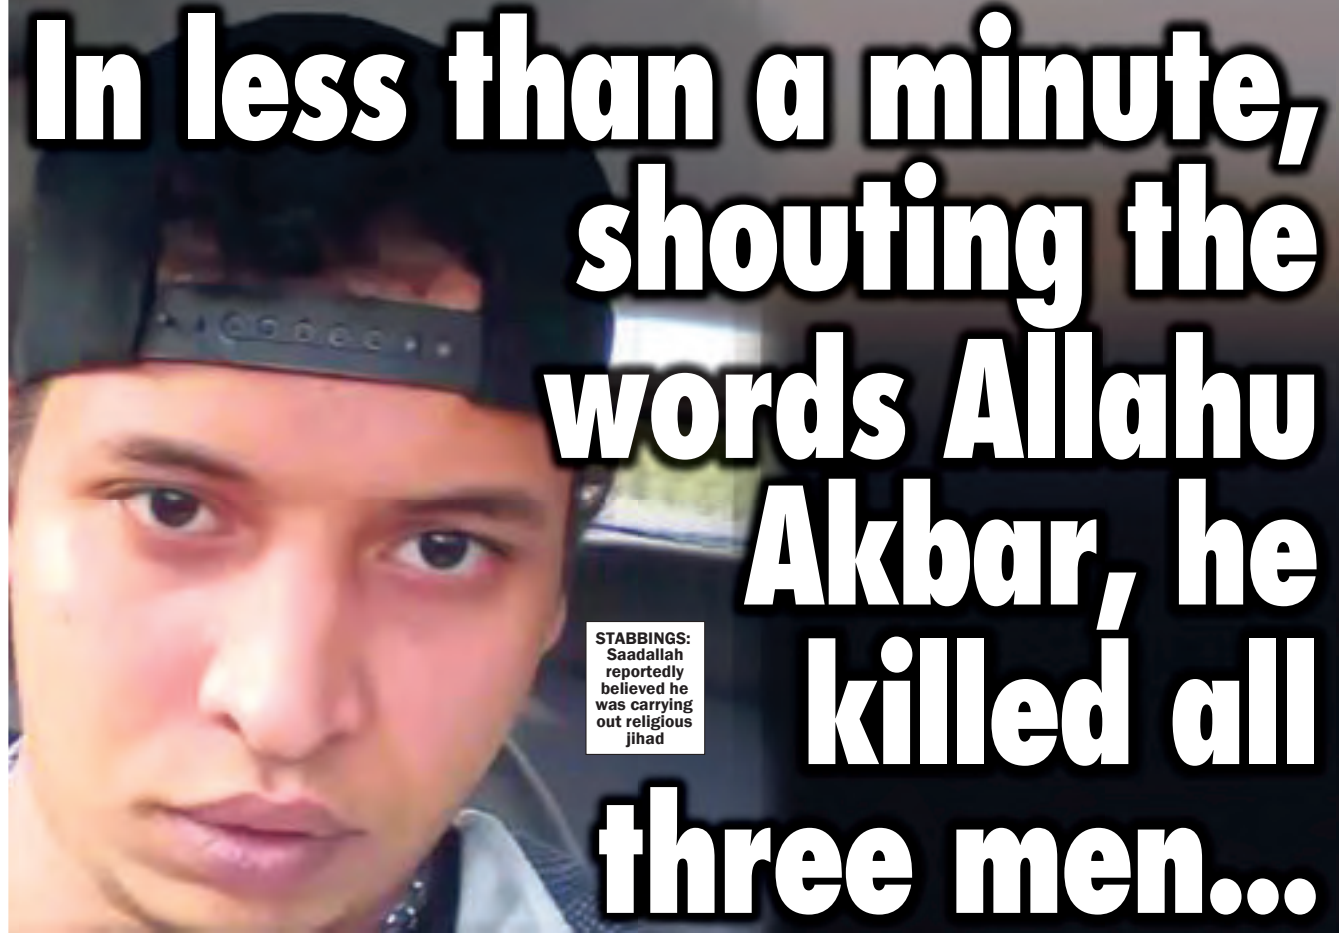

Pervict Victor Rae flashed at a female dog walker at Tyrebagger Hill, Aberdeen.

Rae, 49, who has convictions for similar offences, exposed his genitals and performed a sex act during the incident.

The terrified woman contacted police, who found Rae on all fours crawling through long grass trying to hide.

Rae, of Aberdeen, pleaded guilty to a charge of intentionally engaging in a sexual activity in the presence of the woman.

He was banned from parks, leisure parks, beaches and forest areas unless he has the prior approval of his supervising officer.

STABBINGS: Saadallah reportedly believed he was carrying out religious jihad

COURT TOLD LIBYAN MURDERER WAS 'RUTHLESSLY EFFICIENT'

A "ruthlessly efficient" terrorist stabbed three people to death and injured three more in a Reading park in less than a minute, a court has heard.

Khairi Saadallah, 26, shouted "Allahu Akbar" during the violent spree on June 20 last year.

Saadallah, of Reading, has pleaded guilty to three murders and three attempted murders and appeared at the Old Bailey on Tuesday for the start of his sentencing.

Violent

Prosecutor Alison Morgan QC said the defendant, originally from Tripoli in Libya, aimed to kill as many people as possible in the name of violent jihad.

He launched the attacks in Forbury Gardens, Reading, as numerous people – including the victims – were enjoying the summer evening as the first lockdown restrictions in England had been relaxed.

History teacher James Furlong, 36, scientist David Walls, 49, and US citizen Joseph Ritchie-Bennett, 39, were fatally stabbed.

Their friend Stephen Young, along with Patrick Edwards and Nishit Nisudan, who were sitting in a nearby group, were injured.

Opening the facts of the case, Ms Morgan said: "In less than a minute, shouting Allahu Akbar, the defendant carried out a lethal attack with a knife, killing all three men before they had a chance to respond and try to defend themselves."

"Within the same minute, the defendant went on to attack others nearby, stabbing three more people – Stephen Young, Patrick Edwards and Nishit Nisudan – causing them significant injuries."

The defendant was ruthlessly efficient in his actions. The prosecution's

DIED: Joseph Ritchie-Bennett

case is that the attack perpetrated by the defendant was carefully planned and executed with determination and precision.

"The defendant believed that in carrying out this attack he was acting in pursuit of his extreme ideology, an ideology he appears to have held for some time.

"He believed that in killing as many people as possible that day he was performing an act of religious jihad."

Ms Morgan said the attack was so serious it called for a 'whole life tariff' – meaning

Saadallah must serve his whole sentence without any chance of parole.

Saadallah arrived in the UK as an asylum seeker in 2012, having fled the civil war in Libya, north Africa.

The sentencing before Mr Justice Sweeney is expected to go on for two to three days.

TYCOON'S SON KILLED HIMSELF NEAR GEORGE CLOONEY MANSION

£10M HOME ON THAMES: Clooney

THE son of a millionaire handcuffed himself to a suitcase weighed down with concrete blocks and heavy chains before jumping into the River Thames alongside Hollywood star George Clooney's mansion home, an inquest heard.

Alexander Stern was reported missing by his family, including his father Ronald Stern – a stationery tycoon who owns one of Britain's top Ferrari collections – three days after he disappeared on January 11 last year.

The 36-year-old had taken a £120 taxi ride from London to upmarket Sonning, Berks, and was last seen in a public house near Clooney's mansion, the coroner was told.

Police discovered a rucksack containing Mr Stern's belongings but no sign of him or his suitcase, until his body floated to the surface 1.3 miles downstream and was seen by a canoeist on April 4.

A post mortem examination on Mr Stern's thoroughly decomposed body concluded the cause of death "unascertained", the coroner heard.

The police report, which was read out to the inquest, said: "The body was clothed and attached via handcuffs to a heavy suitcase that contained within it a concrete block."

Identification documents, including his passport and European driving licence, were found in the inside pocket of Mr Stern's coat. He was wearing a hooded top, a coat and three pairs of trousers, the top layer of which was waterproof.

Alan Blake, the assistant coroner for Berkshire, said he was satisfied that Mr Stern had intended to end his own life.

Give me a driving lesson and I'll give you a bonk!

BAWDY Seventies comedy Confessions of a Driving Instructor has come true – in Holland.

Dutch driving school bosses have said it's OK to have sex with a student in return for lessons – as long as the student is over 18.

The Dutch government was asked by Gert-Jan Segers, of the Christian Union party, whether driving instructors could accept sex as payment for driving lessons.

The reply from transport minister Melanie Schultz van Haegen and justice minister Ard van der Steur was 'yes', it was legal, as long as the student was aged 18 or over.

However, the two ministers declared this scenario not 'desirable' and it is also not legal in reverse, so a driving instructor could not offer sex to a student in return for giving driving lessons.

Web searches for driving lessons in exchange for sex are on the increase in the Netherlands.

Uni pledges to support 'sex work' students

THE University of Leicester is requiring all staff to support students who turn to prostitution and other sex work to fund their studies.

Two years since the cap on university tuition fees was removed, more students are turning to a variety of adult jobs to help them get by.

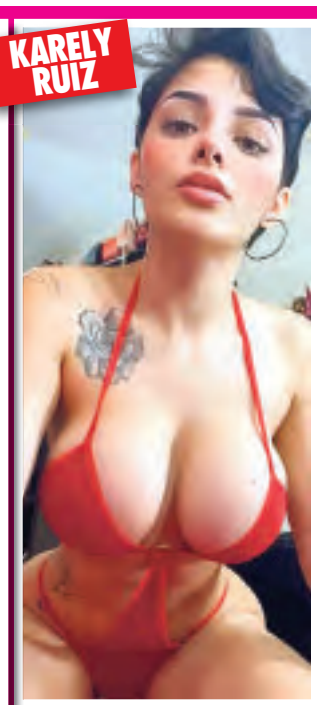

Last year, a survey found that one in 25 had engaged in adult work of some kind, ranging from selling intimate photos to offering full sex for money.

The University of Leicester policy states: "The university is firmly committed to sustaining an inclusive learning, working and research environment for all students, this includes students earning money or other commodities through sex work.

"Students may increasingly turn to sex work to fund studies."

HOLE singer Courtney Love has claimed sex with Alan Partridge star Steve Coogan is 'one of life's great shames' – along with crack – in a new Instagram post.

The pair had a brief fling in 2005. Sharing a picture of herself in a car, Courtney wrote: "A happy Australian cruising around, Australia... America's Sweetheart having her revenge, on, Melbourne? AMAZING!"

"Maybe one day I won't hate that record. It has some good songs. But like Steve Coogan, or crack, it's one of my life's great shames.

"Just the period, sloppiness, men, money, drugs, nightmare.... although Chateau Miraval (where we made it) doesn't suck."

Courtney, 56, who was married to the late Nirvana frontman Kurt Cobain, previously said she only knew Coogan for his role as record boss Tony Wilson and had not heard of his Alan Partridge character.

She said: "I thought he was Tony Wilson in 24 Hour Party People – someone I'd always had a daddy thing for."

"I had never seen Alan Partridge. But I was in a band with people who did know Alan Partridge, so I had to make a record with them constantly saying, 'Back of the net!'"

Hippies welcome after 50-year ban

A TOWN has lifted a mass-gathering ban meant to deter “hippies”.

Officials in LaGrange, Indiana, abolished the 1971 decree regulating gatherings of more than 500 people that last over 12 hours.

The law was originally installed to prevent another Woodstock from happening there.

"I called it our anti-hippie ordinance," County Commissioner Dennis Kratz said.

Officials decided to remove the law as part of an annual sweep of the books to eliminate archaic regulations.

Woodstock was a music festival held over four days in August 1969 on Max Yasgur's dairy farm in Bethel, New York, 40 miles southwest of Woodstock, that attracted more than 400,000 people.

shags at the Sunset Marquis and I did not know he was Alan Partridge."

The singer was admitted to rehab after that to kick her ongoing drug habit.

She later released this statement: "Courtney Love wishes to make it clear that she denies recent stories suggesting she is pregnant or has had a relationship with Steve Coogan.

"She confirms that she and Steve are good friends and have met a few times in Los Angeles."

Coogan's spokesperson said: "He is astonished by this. It is ridiculous."

Piers Morgan, 55, addressed the story in an interview with Coogan for GQ.

Piers asked him: "How true was the Courtney story, then?"

Coogan replied: "Some of it was true, most of it was bollocks."

"To borrow the title of the film, it was 20 per cent cock and 80 per cent bull."

THE CELEBRITY BABES ENDORSING SEX TOYS

LILY ALLEN

TIME was when an actress only sought fame through the director's camera lens.

But in these strange times, more and more of our lady stars have taken up a lucrative sideline – selling sex toys!

It seems merely taking top billing in a Hollywood blockbuster, or conquering the music charts, is simply no longer enough for these money-minded minxes.

None of them will admit it, but it seems likely they've been encouraged by the likes of Khloe Kardashian, who gifted sister Kim a dildo last May and saw its brand sales rocket.

By JAYNE FERGUSON

And coronavirus lockdown has also helped boost sales of bedroom gadgets to help spice things up between the sheets.

All of which shows that, as these stars already know, where there's f, there's brass!

GWYNETH PALTROW

CARA DELEVINGNE

CARA proved herself to be even more a sex-positive legend by announcing that she co-owns sex toy company Lora DiCarlo.

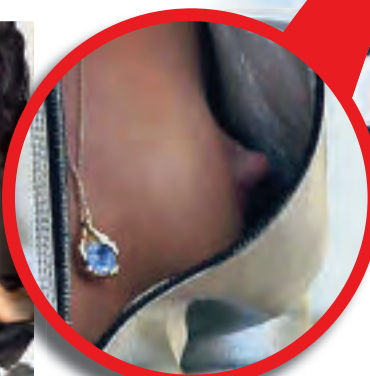

She joined the company as co-owner and creative advisor in November.

It means the model and actress will be using "her voice and platform to inspire and encourage humans to embrace their sexuality with positivity and confidence".

The firm also said she was "sharing their unified values of unapologetically celebrating sexual exploration and working to destigmatise sexuality".

Cara said the sex toy company's vision "represents so much of what I stand for – women-led, femme-focused and pleasure inclusive" and that she is "so excited".

LILY has launched her very own sex toy – and it seems to be going down a treat with shoppers.

Selling for an eye-watering £89.99 on Lovehoney, the vibrator is the subject of wild praise from customers – with some claiming it is life changing.

Having previously championed the Womanizer brand of vibrators, Lily has collaborated with the company to create her own version of the "suction vibrator".

The Liberty is billed as a travel-ready clitoral stimulator combining sweet suction with soft pressure waves.

Womanizer's patented Pleasure Air Technology pulses with 6 intensity levels of touchless stimulation – using a sucker to really ramp up the tingles.

GWYNETH is giving her Goop.com readers great expectations for their sex lives – including a £12,000 gold-plated dildo for the super-rich!

But the star's selections for mere mortals like the rest of us range from exploratory to Fifty Shades and are perfect for "all scenarios", according to Goop.

"Sex toys have long since graduated from the floppy rubber things you hide in your bedside table to beautiful works of interactive art," the site explained.

Products for the price-conscious include a Fetish Fantasy Gold Beginner's Fantasy Kit for around £30, which comes with gold handcuffs and a black mask with matching paddle.

There's also Liquid's Organics Natural Lubricant, which is infused with hibiscus, green tea and aloe and retails for $13.

Best of all? It's stain-free!

She turned her head to look seductively at the camera as

Urging her followers to try out the toy, she wrote: "If you'd like to revolutionize and enhance your pleasure, you have to try the new rabbit vibrator from @leloofficial."

"Meet Soraya Wave, she will reach your g-spot with ease and its design was inspired by the caress of lover's fingers."

DAKOTA

SINCE emerging onto the Hollywood scene five years ago, Dakota has been a thoroughly modern sex symbol.

That is due in no small part to her role as Anastasia Steele in the film adaptation of the Fifty Shades of Grey trilogy, which served as a rousing introduction to the dynamics of a BDSM relationship for thousands.

But that was just the beginning – as evidenced by her latest venture, the 31-year-old actress has every intention of continuing to push the sex-positive conversation forward off-screen as well.

Last year, Dakota announced her new role as investor and co-creative director of Maude, the sexual wellness brand that's gained a cult following for its sleek, sculpture-like toys, organic condoms and personal lubricants, and powerful, pleasure-positive messaging.

CEO Eva Goicochea, who Dakota will work with on the brand's creative direction, said: "She fearlessly has taken on the subject of sex and intimacy through her work."

A RANDY lawyer has been struck off after he attempted to barter sex from a stripper in exchange for handling her divorce case.

The mandate annulling McGinnis Hatfield's license to practice law was handed down from the West Virginia Supreme Court.

The case dates back to 2013 when Hatfield visited the Cherry Bomb Gentleman's Club in Bluefield, West Virginia, with a friend, according to court documents.

For legal reasons, the woman involved is only identified as B.W.

"While at the club, the friend introduced Mr. Hatfield to B.W. Mr. Hatfield claims that he then proceeded to pay B.W. for a lap dance," the disbaring notice from the West Virginia Supreme Court document states.

Explicit

After this meeting, B.W. filed a complaint against Hatfield – alleging that she later asked him to represent her in a divorce case and he asked for explicit sexual favours because she could not afford his fee.

B.W. included six audio recordings of telephone conversations with Hatfield in her complaint.

Transcripts of the audio recordings include detailed and graphic conversations between the two.

In one transcript, Hatfield asks B.W. if the sexual exchange for payment is okay and she responds, "I mean no, not really because I'm not a whore."

Hatfield responds, "Well, I'm not treating you as a whore. I'm just telling you, I'm an old man that needs some sex and I like you. And if you want to do it, that's fine. If you don't, that's okay, too. I know you're not a whore. That's ridiculous. But I've been straight up with you ..."

LUCIOUS Lexi Lowe has one demand from any prospective sex partner – learn how to make a decent cup of tea!

The 32E babe from Newport says she's fed up of having rubbish brews after a hot shagging session.

So now any bloke who wants to slip her a length needs to know how to make a good cuppa.

Lexi, 29, said: "After a few hours of rampant sex I need a good brew.

"So I think the least you can do if I've been swallowing your spunk is to make me a really nice cup of tea afterwards. None of your weak nonsense, a good strong brew.

"If you get it right you might be invited back for seconds.

"And I might even let you do me up the arse!"

MOVIE BOSSSES MAKE A GRAB FOR JODIE'S BOOBS!

DOCTOR GO:
Quitting Jodie
bared boobs (below) in flick Venus

By GRACE HOOPER news@sundaysport.co.uk

HOLLYWOOD bosses are scrambling to sign Doctor Who star Jodie Whittaker after news leaked that she's leaving the BBC sci-fi drama.

And movie moguls want to cast the 38-year-old British actress in X-rated roles that will stun TARDIS fans.

It was reported at the weekend that Jodie, who was cast as the first female Time Lord three years ago, wants to move on.

The news sent shockwaves through the Doctor Who fandom and pricked up the ears of top-flight Yank producers.

A source close to one production company said: "Jodie broke the mould by becoming the first female Doctor Who and she has got a massive fanbase, especially among dads."

Explicit

"The idea of her going naked in explicit scenes has really got casting agents excited."

"There are several scripts in development that would suit her."

"There is one I've read that tells the story of a woman stuck in a boring marriage who becomes a cougar and shags her way through all her son's pals."

"The script is pretty X-rated and calls for a lot of nudity. Jodie, with her profile, would be ideal.

"I know there's a LOT of money on the table."

Going naked on screen would not be a first for Jodie. She's previously stripped in the 2006 flick Venus.

The actress is said to have told bosses she won't return after the forthcoming new Doctor Who season and they need to start thinking about recasting the role of the Time Lord.

A source said: "It's all very hush-hush, but it is known on set that Jodie is leaving and they are gearing up for a regeneration."

"Her departure is top secret, but at some point over the coming months the arrival of the 14th Doctor will need to be filmed. It's very exciting."

Now it's Rubik's Cube, the movie

A NEW movie based on the iconic Rubik's Cube is in the pipeline.

The Hyde Park Entertainment Group, helmed by prolific action flick producer Ashok Amritraj, 64, and Endeavor Content have teamed up to produce a feature film based on the three-by-three brain tease.

The movie follows the success of Netflix's smash series The Queen's Gambit, which stars Anya-Taylor Joy as chess prodigy Beth Harmon, and set off a surge in online chess games and a run on old-school playing boards.

There's also a Rubik's-inspired TV game show in the works: Amritraj will executive produce the series along with The Wall's Andrew Glassman.

ROWAN CANCELS 'MEDIEVAL MOB'

RUBBER-FACED funnyman Rowan Atkinson says that the "cancel culture" in which "woke" social justice warriors attack those they disagree with is like a medieval mob.

Atkinson also condemned online cancel culture as "the digital equivalent of the medieval mob."

The Mr Bean comic said social media filled him with "fear about the future", and that it had widened divisions in society and lowered tolerance.

He said: "The problem we have online is that an algorithm decides what we want to see, which ends up creating a simplistic, binary view of society."

"It becomes a case of either you're with us or against us. And if you're against us, you deserve to be 'cancelled'."

"What we have now is the digital equivalent of the medieval mob roaming the streets looking for someone to burn."

WHY DO PEOPLE ALWAYS TREAT ME AS A SEX OBJECT?

(...we have no idea, Carol!)

By GRACE HOOPER news@sundaysport.co.uk

CLEVERCLOGS Carol Vorderman says she's sick of being treated like a sex object rather than respected for her brains.

The former Countdown host – who turned 60 on Christmas Eve – said more attention is paid to her body than to her successes in business, writing, education and as a pilot.

But insiders say that might just be down to the X-rated gear she wears and the sexy snaps she shares on social media!

Carol also slammed TV bosses for not including more intelligent women on shows such as Loose Women.

"I'm a very successful businesswoman and hugely successful author who has sold more children's education books over 25 years than anyone in UK history, but I suppose that isn't celebrity-worthy," she said.

Hated

"I can do a million things on social media about being a pilot, but as soon as I put up a photo with a tight outfit on, that's the one that gets the publicity. Therefore, the public only see one side of me."

Carol said she hated the fact she was only in the news for wearing short skirts while appearing on Countdown.

She has reinvented herself since quitting the show, launching all sorts from sudoku products to brain-training aerobics games.

A fan said: "When Carol went out in those tight pants revealing a camel toe, I near pulled the ruddy end off. So maybe I saw her as a sex object at that moment, yes."

Gym boss used hidden camera to ogle women

THE owner of a gym used a hidden camera to spy on a woman as she got undressed in a tanning booth, she claims.

The civil lawsuit, she alleges that Randall Roiger installed a surveillance camera in a tanning booth, where he spied on the female customer "repeatedly" without her knowledge.

The 42-year-old woman allegedly spotted the camera during a visit to the gym in January 2019 and then got in touch with cops.

Roiger, who claims to be a former Marine, was later charged with invading privacy.

He told cops that he watched the woman to "make sure individuals had purchased tanning booth minutes" and then allegedly stopped looking on once that was confirmed or "when people started undressing".

Roiger (above), 45, agreed it was an invasion of privacy but has pleaded not guilty ahead of a March trial.

Roiger, of Cokato, Minnesota, said the device "has been down for over a year".

Man with bow and arrow shot in domestic row

A MAN who charged at police with a BOW AND ARROW wound up being shot by them.

The cops had been called to reports of a domestic dispute and were interviewing the alleged victim in the case when Ryan Ehman, 40, charged at the officers "armed with a bow and arrow," officers said.

One of the officers shot Ehman when he refused to drop the weapon outside the home in the village of Portville, New York state.

Ehman was transported to hospital by helicopter, where he remains.

Police did not reveal his condition but said the investigation is ongoing.

It's thought the initial row was over the amount of booze and drugs Ehman had put away over the Christmas period.

HOLY shit! That looks like a picture you'd show the kids to scare them into brushing their gnashers properly.

Katie Price jetted to Turkey late last month to undergo more dental work after two of her teeth fell out.

The former glamour girl, 42, returned to the country with her boyfriend Carl Woods just months after her last trip out there.

Jaws

After getting her last set of veneers in Turkey, Katie reportedly had two come loose but had to wait until this weekend before returning to have them fixed.

She shared a picture of herself in the car on the way to the airport.

And it was NOT pretty!

But let us never forget, before she started posing as the younger sister of Jaws from the James Bond films, Katie – who was also known as Jordan – was Britain's Number One glamour girl.

So let's remember her as the stuff of dreams rather than nightmares.

And look forward to the day she's back to her BREAST.

She still looks gorgeous to me!

Nut chemist destroyed 57 vaccine vials

A PHARMACIST who was arrested for destroying more than 500 doses of the COVID-19 vaccine is an "admitted conspiracy theorist" who thought the shots would mutate human DNA.

Steven Brandenburg (above), 46, also believed the world was "crashing down," and had been hoarding food.

He deliberately spoiled 57 vials of the Moderna vaccine over Christmas – enough to inoculate at least 500 people.

A prosecutor said at a virtual hearing: "He'd formed this belief that they were unsafe."

A detective on the case described him as "an admitted conspiracy theorist" who believed the vaccine could hurt people.

Brandenburg was in the midst of a divorce and had showed up at the Wisconsin, home of his estranged wife on December 30 with two 30-day supplies of food – telling her that she was in denial over the fact that the world was "crashing down," the court heard.

Fact me!

ALTHOUGH the TV show Friends was based around life in New York City, the entire show was filmed in California.

Lag gave jail chef blowjob for Snickers

A PRISON chef has been arrested for allegedly asking an inmate to suck him off in exchange for a chocolate bar.

Leon Spencer, 48, allegedly promised the inmate a Snickers bar in return for a blowjob.

He was arrested on December 21 and is facing charges of sex with a prisoner, gross lewdness and soliciting or engaging in prostitution.

The arrest took place after the inmate reported the incident to police, which prompted officers to check the Las Vegas City Jail's CCTV cameras.

The footage showed the pair entering the loo simultaneously and leaving at different times, according to police.

The report says the inmate reported the incident to avoid facing the chef at work in the kitchens the next day.

LESBIAN SEX WAS A JOYFUL EXPERIENCE

MUFF SAID: Kate and Saoirse get their rocks off in film

(Yeah, and we quite enjoyed watching it, Kate!)

KATE Winslet says that filming a raunchy lesbian sex scene with co-star Saoirse Ronan for her new film Ammonite was a "joyful experience".

The Titanic star admitted making the minge-grinding was "very different" to any heterosexual scenes she had filmed in the past.

In Ammonite, Kate plays Mary Anning, a top British palaeontologist who has an affair with married woman Charlotte Murchison, played by Saoirse.

She said: "It did feel very different. I've played LGBTQ characters before. In fact, I

By COLIN HURST

news@sundaysport.co.uk

played an LGBTQ character in the first film I ever did, Heavenly Creatures.

"I was very young, I had only just turned 17 actually, and also I had very little experience of actual intimacy in my own life, so I didn't really know what I was doing, other than just playing the character."

Physical

Now, having performed any number of heterosexual scenes on film, the 45-year-old learned that filming with another woman is different as they're both speaking the "same physical language".

Kate added that the scene was shot on Saoirse Ronan's 25th birthday.

She went on: "It just made sense. Women know what women want, let's not beat about the bush."

"Saoirse and I knew we could unite in our feelings about these characters and where they're at, and to tell that story physically. It was a very joyful experience."

One fan said: "It was joyful for me, watching it – right up until the moment I realised I'd rubbed most of the skin off my shaft!"

Both actresses have been put forward for nominations Oscars for their roles in the film, with the ceremony due to take place in April.

THE

PAPERBOY PREDATOR

VICTIM: Stuart Gough

"GOODNIGHT, Dad," Geoff Gough heard as son Stuart went upstairs to bed.

"Goodnight, son," he replied. He was so proud of him. While his friends were playing out late on Saturday nights, 14-year-old Stuart was tucked up, ready for his early morning paper round. It wasn't much money but it

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

gave him independence, and in Hagley, the little village in Worcestershire where he delivered, everyone knew and liked him.

"Goodnight, Dad," were the last words Geoff ever heard his son say.

DEVASTATED: Parents Jean and Geoff Gough with a framed photo of their son EVIL Victor Miller preyed on the vulnerable.

He was a predatory paedophile who targeted paperboys to sate his sick lust.

It was a lust he could not control – a lust that led to MURDER.

In 1998 the computer programmer, from Wolverhampton, killed 14-year-old Stuart Gough.

His tragic death was the culmination of a 15-year-long spate of attacks on teenage boys by Miller that only came to an end when the 59-year-old was jailed and told he will die behind bars...

That Sunday morning on February 15, Stuart arrived at the newsagent's, picked up his papers and set off in the bright winter sunshine to deliver his first load.

Two hours later he was dead, the final act in sick paedophile Victor Miller's 15 years of terror.

His speciality was attacking and sexually assaulting teenage boys.

Describing why, the evil pervert said: "It was an ideal set-up really. It was an ideal time when nobody is about and they are boys of the age I go for."

Tragically, Stuart fitted that bill.

He didn't show up to pick up his second load of newspapers and the newsagent called the police.

Manhunt

It set in motion a huge manhunt with dogs, helicopters and hundreds of searchers.

But it was all in vain. Stuart had been taken at knife-point, the sharp edge of the blade pressed into the flesh of his neck as he was blindfolded and bundled into Miller's silver car.

After a 50-mile drive, Miller parked near a drainage ditch by the M40 and Stuart was pulled out and stripped

LAID TO REST: Stuart's parents at their son's funeral

PREDATOR: Miller attacked dozens of teenage boys

PURE EVIL: Miller had committed a string of crimes

BRITAIN'S SICKKEST KILLERS

before being raped. For the next 20 minutes Miller decided what to do next – torn between letting Stuart live and taking his life.

As Miller weighed up his options Stuart was left, naked and crying, not knowing what was going to happen.

Miller chose murder. He tried to strangle his victim with a shoelace, and when that failed he picked up a rock and started to beat the boy he had kidnapped and raped.

Fingerprints

He hit him over and over, fuelled by a vicious rage, until Stuart was so battered the only way police could identify his body was by matching the fingerprints from his school desk.

The final moments of Stuart's life still haunt his dad.

"My mind keeps going back to what Stuart was saying in his last few minutes," he recalled.

"Was he shouting for me to help him? I can't get it out of my mind and I don't think I ever will."

Explaining why he had chosen to take the young boy's life, Miller says he did it for love, to protect his boyfriend Trevor Peacher, a fellow sex offender he'd met in jail while serving time for kidnapping a 13-year-old boy.

He said: "I was in a lot of turmoil. If I had been on my own I would have taken him back, but there was Trevor."

"If I was caught for this he wouldn't cope with the mortgage and everything."

"He's the one person who loves me, the dearest person I've got in my life."

Two days before Stuart's murder another teen boy had been kidnapped and forced at knifepoint into a silver car.

Richard Holden was driven to an orchard in Wellington, near Hereford, and forced to strip naked – but the 18-year-old fought back.

He kicked his attacker in the crotch and then managed to escape.

When Stuart was reported missing police knew the two incidents were linked.

They placed Richard under hypnosis and he was able to describe the attacker and his car.

Miller matched the description and he was quizzed, but his sex offender boyfriend gave him an alibi.

Ten days after the murder and Stuart's body had still not been found. Police arrested Miller and Peacher again.

This time Miller confessed and led the police to Stuart's body, buried under a pile of leaves.

On his first appearance before Magistrates in Hereford, Miller made a statement.

He said: "I have been charged with the murder of Stuart Gough and I do not intend to defend the charge."

"I can never make up for taking Stuart from his family. But I would ask, and indeed trust, that justice will be done and that I will receive the maximum sentence available."

He got his wish and was jailed for life, and his crimes were judged so horrific that he has been told he will never be freed from prison.

Peacher was sentenced to three years for perverting the course of justice.

But that is cold comfort for Stuart's dad, who added: "I have no mercy for an adult who kills a child. If I can get my hands on him I'd break his neck."

Shattered

"I go to bed every night, mentally and physically shattered. I see Stuart every morning when I go up the road to the spot where he was kidnapped, and every day it gets worse. I wish I could turn the clock back. I pray every night to die so I can be with him."

"His last words haunt me. He said, 'Goodnight, Dad,' when he went upstairs to bed on the Saturday night."

"He was always in bed early because of his paper round."

Police believe that Miller may have been responsible for at least 28 more attacks, and would have killed again had he not been caught.

WIFE TRIED TO KILL HUSBY WITH EYE DROPS

TOO GOBBY: Glasco's plot was caught on tape

A WOMAN was allegedly caught on audio recording plotting her husband's death by poisoning him with eye drops.

Tina Glasco, 56, was arrested after a police investigation revealed she was using Visine eye drops to slowly poison her husband.

Glasco allegedly poured the eye drops in his drinks over four days, a police affidavit states.

Police obtained an audio recording where they reportedly heard Glasco planning to kill her husband.

Cops did not reveal the man's health status. Glasco, of Paragould, Arkansas, has now been charged with attempted murder.

Coma

Tetrahydrozoline, a form of medicine found in many over the counter eye drops such as Visine, can cause seizures, blurred vision, difficulty breathing and may even result in a coma if taken orally.

Lana Sue Clayton, a former nurse from South Carolina, was sentenced to 25 years in prison last January after pleading guilty to putting Visine eye drops in her husband's drink, which killed him.

In another similar case, Joshua Lee Hunsucker, a former paramedic in North Carolina, was charged with first degree murder.

He allegedly used Visine eye drops to poison and eventually kill his 32-year-old wife Stacy Robinson Hunsucker.

Johnson & Johnson, Visine's manufacturer, said the eye drops should never be consumed by mouth.

The company said in a statement: "Using tetrahydrozoline (active ingredient in Visine) on the surface of the eye has been demonstrated to be safe for self-use for more than 50 years."

"Visine is clearly labelled for external use only and should never be swallowed."

JUSTIN DUNN'S ROOM 101

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

WIKILEAKS boss Julian Assange is not being extradited to the United States.

This is music to the ears of free speech campaigners and computer hackers everywhere, but that joy won't necessarily be shared in the annals of Fancy West London.

There, cleaners in the Ecuadorian Embassy still shudder with the memory of the time he spent over seven years held up there, occasionally leaving dirty protests for them to clear up...

It's not Boris's fault that UK caught COVID, Piers

IN olden times, reporters used to ask their subjects questions and duly wait for an answer.

If they thought the answer was unhelpful or unclear, they would press forward for an answer with more clarity.

Not any more.

Now – and this especially applies to broadcasters – interviewing a minister is not so much about asking them to explain something but merely just shouting at them instead.

I have little time for anyone inside this government of intellectual lightweights, but the incessant shrieking and jumping up and down by the likes of Piers Morgan and everyone at the BBC and Sky News is actually making me become more sympathetic.

Governments across the entire planet have been royally bugged by this pandemic.

Not a single one of them saw it coming.

Because that's the trouble with highly contagious deadly viruses – they are never polite enough to give you advance notice of their doom-laden arrival.

But the way our telly interviewers act these days, you'd think Boris and his cabinet had spent their first couple of months in office early last year sat around a witch's cauldron, stirring up the fatal COVID-19 brew.

I'm just waiting for Piers (above) to demand how many "legs of toad" Priti Patel piled in, or whether Matt Hancock goes home at night on his gnarled hag's flying broom.

It's all great fun for them, of course, because then they find their best "gotcha" moment, clip it, post it on Twitter, and then sit back with a semi-on awaiting social media applause.

The problem is that for the average punter at home, we learn NOTHING.

For instance, you've probably read the same headlines as me about "record" numbers of virus cases.

What you won't have learned – certainly not from watching GMB, Sky or the BBC – is how many of those cases actually result in death.

Which would, y'know, give us mere mortals a chance to weigh up the evidence ourselves and decide what course of behaviour is, or isn't, acceptable.

People are going nuts about lockdowns, because they curtail our freedom and liberties.

But it's not Boris's fault that Britain got the coronavirus.

He and everyone else can only do what the rest of the world has done – which is to try to tackle it in any way possible.

Colossal mistakes have already been made, yes. No doubt there will be more to come.

But there is no magic wand against this virus, even if the new vaccines offer hope.

And demanding ministers appear on TV simply so some jumped-up hack in a tie can imperiously shout them down like a Victorian headmaster gets us absolutely nowhere.

'Aliens are real,' says top boffin

A TOP boffin claims an odd space object to enter our solar system was not another rock formation but actually evidence of intelligent life outside of Earth.

Avi Loeb (above), Harvard University's Department of Astronomy chair, believes aliens dropped some space garbage over our planet in 2017, and it's proof that alien life exists.

Loeb's upcoming book, Extraterrestrial: The First Sign of Intelligent Life Beyond Earth, claims that on September 6, 2017, an object from the star Vega – about 25 light years away – passed close to the Earth. By the end of the month, it flew by Venus at a rate of 58,900mph.

It was the first interstellar object ever detected inside our solar system and had a sort of cigar shape.

Loeb says no natural space object looks like that, adding: "It was unusually bright. It was at least 10 times more reflective than typical solar system asteroids or comets."

Woman gets bullet in her head at party

A WOMAN at an outdoor New Year's Eve party was struck in the head by a stray bullet fired by a gun-toting reveller who fired into the air.

The woman was in a friend's back garden when the stray bullet fell from the sky, hitting her on the head just after midnight.

Shay Orozco, who hosted the party, recalled wishing everyone a happy New Year when she noticed her friend's head bleeding.

The woman was taken to a hospital but later released.

Police in Fresno, California, said about 1,700 shots were fired between 6.00pm on New Year's Eve and 6.00am on New Year's Day.

Orozco said: "You hear the gunshots every year but you never really think about what happens when the bullet drops."

X-RATED SCENES IN NEW BBC DRAMA A TEACHER

SEXY KATE TOLD HER FOLKS...

DON'T WATCH THE SHAGGING!

GROOMER: Saucy Kate seduces a teenage pupil in A Teacher

By JAYNE FERGUSON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

KATE Mara has revealed she had to warn her parents about the awkward sex scenes she performs in her new TV show.

And they were left with just 10 minutes to watch per episode after skipping through all the X-rated sequences!

The Hollywood star, 37, plays teacher Claire Wilson in new drama A Teacher – which began airing on the BBC at the weekend.

Her character is seen seducing a teenage pupil – showing an adult in power taking advantage of an impressionable youth.

Kate said that mixing controversial storylines with intimate scenes left her feeling more uncomfortable than usual while performing sex scenes – a sentiment that was shared by her parents.

Abuse

The actress said: "I just told them they're going to have to fast-forward through some things."

"When I called them to ask them what they thought, they said things like, 'Yeah, we only had to fast-forward four times tonight'."

"That leaves probably ten minutes of the episode."

"Some people are definitely going to feel uncomfortable watching. The fact that it's a female doing the abuse and being the groomer and all of these things is something that is rarely discussed."

A Teacher is not Kate's first foray into on-screen nudity. In the 2017 flick My Days of Mercy, she starred in a LESBIAN romp with Elliot Page.

THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY Page

PG, Cardiff

YES, she obviously can't be trusted.

DG, Cambs

INDEED – get packing!

Ashleigh says...

YES – friends with benefits!

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week ASHLEIGH GEE has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

I'm left so sexhausted by boss's nympho wife

Dear Ashleigh,

I AM a 20-year-old lad and I have started an affair with the 42-year-old wife of my gaffer.

We got talking at a works party and she confessed that her marriage was going through a rocky patch.

She seemed to cheer up when I asked her for a dance and I felt my dick tingle when I held her close.

Two days later she phoned saying her hubby was away on business and would I like to call round to her house.

When I arrived she was wearing a tight, low-cut top and a slit skirt and looked totally shaggable.

She opened a bottle of bubbly, and within five minutes we were snogging hungrily on the sofa.

Moist

I ran my hand up her thigh and was soon massaging her moist fanny.

The foreplay drove her crazy and she tore off my clothes, peeled off her dress and got on all-fours on the fur rug.

She presented her backside to me and ordered me to give her a vigorous doggy-style shafting.

I was only too happy to nail her and brought her to orgasm twice in rapid succession before I withdrew.

But she still wasn't satisfied and sucked my cock until it was hard again before telling me to plunge it inside her again.

After 30 minutes of pumping I was knackered, but she seemed like she could go on forever.

When I left she promised me another session soon.

But I am not sure I can stand the pace, and I am also worried that I'll get sacked if my boss finds out.

What should I do?

CH, South Yorks

Ashleigh says...

YOU are skating on thin ice. Only go back for seconds if you have another job lined up!

Dear Ashleigh,

I HAVE been with my boyfriend for two months.

We are the same age – 25 – and he's the best shag I have had in my life.

He is really filthy and gives me a good seeing-to as and when I need it.

The problem is when I am giving him oral sex he forces my head onto his manhood.

This I don't mind, but he really pulls my hair and, to put it bluntly, it really hurts.

I don't want him to think I am a prude so just go along with it, but if he continues then I don't think I can be with him any more as the pain is just too much.

How do I tell him?

BN, email

Ashleigh says...

THIS is 2021, and you should never do anything you don't want to do in bed – or anywhere else. Tell him you don't enjoy what he's doing and ask him to stop. If he carries on he has no respect for you, so dump him!

Dear Ashleigh,

I WORK in the local factory as a cleaner.

Normally, there is nobody around after daytime shifts but one evening when cleaning I accidentally stumbled across a guy still in one of the cubicles.

I opened the door and he was yanking at his impressive member.

Being a shy 19-year-old girl, I didn't know what to say to him.

I was embarrassed but so turned on by the situation.

I decided I needed to have him in my mouth, so I knelt down and started sucking without saying a word.

He then picked me up, sat me on a sink and pushed my uniform up so he could slip my panties to one side and lap at my fanny.

Then he f*cked my sopping wet pussy and I could hear his balls slapping off the ceramic as I came furiously.

That was last week, and now he wants to tell everyone in work – including my manager.

What should I do?

GS, Bristol

Ashleigh says...

WARN him to back off or you'll let it be known that he's a secret wanker.

The guy sounds like an absolute jerk – just ignore him if he ever threatens you like this again.

Cash-for-gash stripper fun

Dear Ashleigh,

AT the end of a boozy night on the town, me and a couple of mates tried it on with two strippers.

They told us that they'd give us a blowjob for £30 and a shag for a £50.

Both then stripped off and I got my knob out and watched as one sucked me off while the other was taken from behind while giving a blowjob and a handjob.

I was just about to come when the bird blowing me got off her knees and bent over the pool table and I sent my lovejuice into her.

I then went over to her mate and for my tenner I had her in both holes.

Lesbo

The girls each made £200 quid and I invited them round to my place a few days later.

In my room I set my mobile phone and filmed them having a lesbo romp.

Then they both sucked me off, before I came all over their massive tits.

I then had sex with both of them.

I paid them £150 each and they said in future they'll only charge £100 each for a threesome.

I think it's a bargain.

What do you reckon?

DA, email

Ashleigh says...

IT sounds like a good deal to me.

'I say bring on some sexy lady loving in 2021!

...WITH KEIRA MOON, 34, 36D-24-37, FROM TOWER HAMLETS, E LONDON

I'VE always been bi-curious - but I have not lost my girl cherry yet.

That's going to be my New Year's resolution!

I've snogged a few girls for a laugh at parties when we've all played 'kiss or dare'.

And it's sparked a desire to go all the way with a woman... a full-on sensual experience!

Whenever I watch porn I'm often looking at the girl in the scene - I love curvy girls with big boobs and peachy bums.

I'd love to be in a hot tub while getting seduced by an older woman - a MILF who will take the lead and draw me into being really filthy.

I often climax thinking about licking another lady's nipples and caressing her breasts... and us going down on each other... and using dildos and strap-ons.

This year's been really shit because of the global pandemic, so it's time to have some fun.

Bring on the lady loving, 2021!

VERONICA Vanoza has been modelling since she was just 18 – and when she hit 23 she decided to move into making filthy, X-rated movies.

The Prague-born star, now 31, said: "I have 32D boobs and always liked the way men were fascinated by them."

"Then I learned that blokes were even more fascinated if my huge breasts were splattered with lots and lots of hot, sticky spunk!

"I do a lot of titty-fk movies, and I love rubbing freshly-milked semen into my nipples – making them go all stiff."

"I also enjoy hard anal sex. That makes my boobs swing and I usually squirt when I am fked anally."

"I want to show off my boobs in all their glory for as long as I can – and I'm sure men do, too!"

IT'S finally time to say goodbye to the creepy Crawleys of Downton Abbey and hello to the horny hotties of buxom Bottomley Manor!

For all you red-blooded fellas who love your porn but are bored to tears by dull Downton Abbey this is your lucky day.

Released last week, the UK's most highly anticipated adult movie is available exclusively through the Sport's adult partner Private Shops and, for a limited time they're offering readers another £5 OFF the already low, low price.

Down On Abby is a big budget, full length adult masterpiece starring porn legend Ben Dover and a cast of the hottest adult stars around. It will transport you to Bottomley Manor, home to the Lord Grabhem (played by Ben Dover), his wife (and 2014 AVN nominee) Jasmine Jae, and their two young promiscuous stepdaughters, Abby and Fanny.

The Grabhems have invited the Stiffies to dinner and their staff, led by butler Smallc and footman Master Bates, hurriedly prepare to receive their honoured guests.

But during preparations some members of staff have their own ideas of how to make the night go with a bang! As dinner approaches it seems everyone's got more than fancy nosh on their minds. Mind you, there is plenty of noshing as well as lots of other filth that will even cause a crease in Carson's keks.

We see plenty of R18 DVDs at the Sport but this one is really something special and one you MUST not miss!

This future classic stars Ava Dalush as Missy, Cathy Heaven as Lucy, Emma Leigh as Betty, Jasmine Jae as Lady Wanda Grabhem, Jasmine James as Fanny Grabhem, Jess West as Lady Stiffie, Lexi Lowe as Abby Grabhem, Ben Dover as Lord Will Grabhem, Big Bad Dave as Smithers and Clarke Kent as Master Bates.

NATALIE ANDERSON

ENGINEER Bradley Brown can't stop staring at Natalie Anderson's eye-popping 34D boobs.

The 55-year-old, from Grimsby, says 23-year-old Natalie's norks are his idea of a perfect pair – and he wouldn't change a thing.

Natalie, from Edinburgh, looks sensational in this bare-boobed snap and Bradley has never been happier to see a topless photo.

He said: "She's a dream is Nat – and those boobs are an absolute knockout."

SHOW ME THE HONEY!

WELCOME to the interactive Midweek Sport – where YOU get to choose the stunnas appearing on these pages!

That's right fellas, we publish sexy snaps of the babes you most want to see – TOPLESS or even NAKED.

Every Wednesday, Show Me The Honey features the cute curves of the glamour girls you're clamouring for. This service – UNIQUE to British newspapers – is totally FREE!

All you have to do is drop us an email to request sundaysport.co.uk telling us why you want to see your favourite girl, then sit back and let us do the rest.

MONICA HARRIS

SUPERMARKET worker Freddie Carter is very grateful he's still employed during lockdown, but reckons he needs some help to cope with all the madness – in the form of a topless Monica Harris showing off her incredible 32C boobs.

He said: "I'm from Sunderland, too, so I always hope she might pop into the store at some point. I haven't seen her yet, though!"

Well, Freddie, in the meantime here's a topless photo of the lovely Monica to brighten up your day and help keep your pecker up during the latest lockdown misery.

Enjoy!

MISHA

BARBER Simon Fulwood might not be cutting much hair at the minute but he can at least cheer himself up with looking at 31-year-old Misha's 34E busters.

The 29-year-old, from Southport, said: "This lockdown bollocks is so ruddy annoying, so please show me a sexy pic of Misha to help."

#HOT'N'HORNY

natalia PHILLIPS

NAUGHTY Natalia Phillips is a proper tease – and she most certainly knows it!

Cheeky Natalia, 22, from Bromley, Kent, slowly peeled off her little bra to reveal her pert 32C breasts.

And she couldn't resist giving her hard nipples a rub as she did so.

Natalia chuckled: "It's such a huge turn-on to slowly take my clothes off. 'I would have loved to have been a stripper, if I'd not got into glamour modelling."

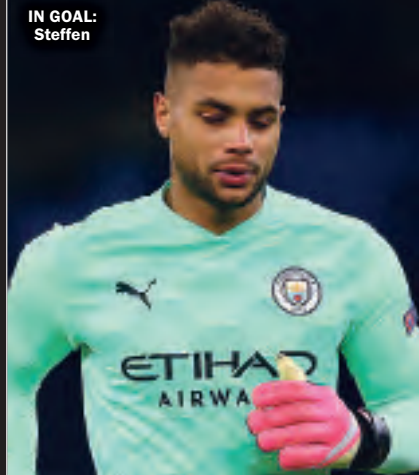

"Shall I take off my clean little, flower-print panties now..?"

At that point, our photographer had to take a break to dangle his bollocks in the washbasin!

IN GOAL:

Kids need to play big part for Guardiola

PEP Guardiola says Manchester City fans will see some unfamiliar names on the bench in the next few weeks.

The Blues have been hit by a Covid outbreak that has seen games postponed. Six players were missing for the win against Chelsea at Stamford Bridge last week.

And it looks like a similar story in the next few weeks as the club gets back on its feet. City have a EFL Cup semi-final derby with Manchester United at Old Trafford tonight.

Several academy players could be called on to fill the bench.

It has been decided that five subs can be used so there's a chance for a couple of the younger squad members to get some time on the pitch.

The likes of Liam Delap and Taylor Harwood-Bellis were unused subs at the Bridge.

And there was a debut in goal for Zack Steffen who came in when usual No1 Ederson had to self-isolate because of the virus.

Suffering

It didn't matter as City cruised past a poor Chelsea side to get their title challenge back on the right track after a patch start to the campaign left them in mid-table.

Pep said: "Thank you to all the players in a difficult time with friends, players, and backroom staff suffering with Covid."

"They made a step forward an incredible display at Stamford Bridge against one of the best teams in the Premier League.

BENCH: Harwood-Bellis

"A good result for us to be close to the top of the league."

"Still we are a way behind and now we recover and play in the semi-finals of the Carabao Cup and the next game."

Guardiola knows his squad will be stretched to the limit.

"I am concerned with playing this amount of games in this period with just 16 players."

"It is difficult to handle in all competitions but we go game by game and will see who is fit."

"If you want to compete in all competitions you need a full squad but we have the second team that have been training with us."

"We know they can help us to solve the problems but of course with this amount of games with just 15, 16, players it will not be possible or it will be more difficult."

OUR FOOTY NEWS ALWAYS SCORES

PRESSURE:
Recent results have been poor for Lampard

LAMPS IN DARK OVER BLUES JOB

'I have no idea about sack' says Frank

FRANK Lampard admits he has no idea whether he's about to get the sack.

The Chelsea manager is under growing pressure after a run of just one win in the past six Premier League matches.

After a decent start to the season the Blues have looked all over the place lately.

They were brushed aside by a struggling Arsenal and well beaten at home by Man City at the weekend.

Chelsea are not known for giving their managers time to sort out bad runs.

So even after this short blip, Lampard is looking over his shoulder.

He admitted: "I am not going to speak for people above me because I can never do that. That's why I couldn't answer a month ago about me getting a new contract.

By PAUL THOMAS

"I can't answer what they're thinking about now, but it is what it is."

Lampard was given big money to spend in the summer window.

But his new signings like Kai Havertz and Timo Werner have struggled to make an impact.

Lampard knows that's a problem but says his newcomers need more time — as does he.

He added: "There is never going to be an absolute trajectory that goes up and up and up."

"So maybe we had 16 games unbeaten, great, I still saw flaws. When we lost four games in quick succession, I see flaws and they are much more evident to everybody."

"It is my job to focus on working on them, not what the board are thinking. That would just distract me and I can't do it."

It hasn't been a disaster for the Blues and they have qualified for the knockout stages of the Champions League.

And they are only three points off where they sat at this stage of last season — and still on the verge of the top four.

Lampard admits more is expected of his team though.

He added: "I will always feel heat. I felt heat when we were on our good run because I know that around the corner can be negatives."

"I expected periods of difficulty this year. I said it when we beat Leeds and everyone was championing us to be title contenders. I know it doesn't come that easy. I know where we are at. Whether it puts pressure on me or not is regardless."

"One month ago, everyone was asking whether I'd sign a new contract. Now people will be saying different things because over a tight, busy period, we've lost four games."

Tough

"So the pressure remains constant and you know in tough moments that will be there. I didn't get into this job being unaware of that. My job is to keep working."

"At the minute, we are in a tough period. The expectations after Leeds that we are title contenders was not real. I am real now in saying the club has to take pain, for where we want to get to."

THE Manchester giants clash in tonight's EFL Cup semi-final.

Thanks to the pandemic, the usual two legs have been ditched so United have a slight advantage in playing in front of their own empty stands at Old Trafford.

A lot will depend on how strong a team each manager puts out but you would think Ole Gunnar Solskjaer in particular would play as strong an eleven as he can.

The Reds are on a roll and any victory over their noisy neighbours would be welcomed.

Especially with the added bonus of a Wembley final as the prize.

Split

City can't make too many changes either with several players still recovering from covid issues.

The Premier League clash between these two last month was one of the most boring games of all time.

And it looks hard to split the teams again. United are on a seven-match unbeaten run while Pep's lads were simply awesome against Chelsea at the weekend.

The bookies make City their even money favourites with United 5/2 and the draw a tempting 11/4.

Those odds are all for 90 minutes rather than the end of extra-time and penalties if needed.

GET SET FOR EXTRA-TIME AT OT

You can bet on the winner of the tie too and that's where City are a superbly skinny 4/7 with the Reds 11/8.

This is certain to be cagey again and the draw after 90 minutes looks the wise bet at 11/4 with several firms.

Surely it can't be as bad as the 0-0 of the league clash.

So if you're looking for bigger odds, try a correct score bet on 1-1 after 90 minutes at a best priced

13/2 with Bet365 which looks fair enough.

There has been much talk of Frank Lampard being shown the door as Chelsea boss by Roman Abramovich.

A look at the Blues' recent Premier League results makes painful reading.

They have managed just one win in six and have copped two heavy beatings against Arsenal and Manchester City since Christmas.

It seems a little hasty to be talking about the manager going given that Chelsea are eighth in the table and still only three points off the Champions League places.

A quick look at the next manager to be fired odds sees Lampard at 11/10 with most firms.

That's just ahead of Chris Wilder at Sheffield United with a few gaffers around the 10/1 mark including Big Sam, Steve Bruce, Mikel Arteta and Graham Potter of Brighton.

Then it's 20/1 for Nuno Espirito Santo right down to Jurgen Klopp on 100s.

A look at the names being backed to replace Lampard probably doesn't get Chelsea fans off their seats.

Current Leicester gaffer and former Stamford Bridge coach Brendan Rodgers is 3/1 while the underwhelmingly sacked Paris St Germain boss Thomas Tuchel is 5/1.

Former Juventus chief Max Allegri was being linked with Arsenal until Arteta won a few games and he's still hovering around the 5/1 mark.

It's hard to see any of those doing much better than Lampard. But there is a left-field tip going around at 20/1.

That's current England gaffer Gareth Southgate who could be tempted back into club management.

'SIR' JAMES READY FOR AUSTRALIA SLEDGING

CRICKET By ANDY MILLOM

JAMES Anderson says he's not bothered about having to wait for his knighthood.

The England and Lancashire bowler was tipped to become Sir James in the New Year honours. But an insider reveals that they didn't want him to have the gong while he was still playing.

The 38-year-old won't have to wait long for his honour which is richly deserved after he passed the 600 mark for Test wickets.

And it's thought that there was a worry about Anderson being sledged by the Aussies next winter if he was a "Sir".

The bowler himself thinks he'll come in for plenty of stick either way. He said:

"I'm sure it won't stop them sledging me anyway, to be honest. I pretty much get a big barrage when I go there anyway. I'm looking forward to that with or without that."

Anderson is adamant that he will play a full part in the coming summer before taking on the old enemy again.

He added: "I've got myself in really good shape - I'd say I'm in as good shape as I have been in my 30s if not better to be honest."

"I feel fantastic. We've had quite a long time off so that helps as well - getting stronger in the gym, keeping fit. I'm just trying to focus on the here and now and getting ready to play in these Test matches this winter."

Anderson is currently in Sri Lanka preparing for the upcoming Tests.

The tour has not got off to the greatest start with the news that Moeen Ali has tested positive for Covid.

The Warwickshire all-rounder will now have to self-isolate in his hotel room for ten days ahead of the opening test on January 14.

His county team-mate Chris Woakes is a close contact and also has to isolate.

An ECB spokesman said: "Ali will now observe a period of 10-days self-isolation, in accordance with the Sri Lanka Government's protocol on quarantine."

"Chris Woakes has been deemed as a possible close contact, and he will observe a period of self-isolation and further testing."

"The touring party will be PCR tested for a second time before starting training."

Messi best in world says Soriano

MANCHESTER City are being linked with Lionel Messi after the club's CEO called him the world's best player.

Ferran Soriano believes the Barcelona legend has earned the right to make up his mind about his next club.

And that could be City with the Argentina striker now free to start talks with any team he likes.

That's because his contract with Barcelona runs out this summer when he will become the most sought after free transfer of all time.

The six-time Ballon D'Or winner wanted to leave the Nou Camp last year but got caught up in legal wrangles so decided to stay.

City were favourites for his signature then and it seems like nothing has changed.

The Mancunians' CEO Soriano said: "It's clear that Messi has earned the right to choose what he wants to do."

"He's the best in the world. In previous situations when there were rumours about a potential departure from Barca, he had some obstacles. Now he has nothing that blocks him.

"He will choose where to play. We're aware of all the players in the world, but we don't participate in individual decisions. As City CEO, I can't say anything."
